Toggle Timetable List

Your course level timetable is displayed in the list. All core modules are grouped at the top of the list and are ticked and any optional modules are listed below.

Please Note: Depending on the proliferation of the module (being taught across different courses), you may find an event on your timetable which is associated to a course for which you are not registered on.

To display your optional modules tick the box next to the modules within the list so that they are displayed on your timetable view.

As there are many options associated to a course level, if all options were ticked it would be very confusing to view a course level timetable. Students have the ability to select their options by ticking on the box within the toggle screen.

On the timetable you will notice that there are some events with rooms associated (highlighted above in red). Others have 'OnlineLIVE' or 'OnlineSOL' in blue, these events will be delivered on-line and you should check SOL <https://learn.solent.ac.uk> for more details including whether these events are live or on demand.

There maybe more events showing than you need to attend, this is because modules are shared across numerous courses and these will be displayed on your timetable.

To ascertain which events are associated to your specific course, hover your mouse pointer over the module name on an event. If details for the event hovered over are for a different course to the one you are enrolled on you do not need to attend this event. Note: At this stage you will not know which seminar group you have been associated to.

To ensure that your selection of modules remains within the timetable list, click on Save. If you do not save, on your next login, you will have to reselect your modules.

The screenshot shows the Solent University Timetable system interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs for 'Timetables', 'Bookings', 'Administration', and 'Help'. Below this is a header for 'Multiple Timetables' for the week of 20 January 2020. The main area is a grid of course slots for Monday through Friday. A red dialog box is centered on the screen, displaying the text 'Saved' and 'The list of timetables has been saved.' with an 'OK' button. On the right side, there is a 'My Timetable' list with various course codes and checkboxes.

To view more details about an event, click on the event and a dialog box will open which displays further details. This can be seen below. To close this box, click on the small x.

This screenshot shows the same Solent University Timetable system, but with a 'Timetable event details' dialog box open. The dialog box provides specific information for the event 'Strategic Sports Development SED610' on Tuesday, 21 January 2020, from 10:00 am to 12:00 pm. The details include the event name, date, time, and a list of lecturers: Binney L, 7269616, BSPOSF, BSPCDF, BA (Hons) Sports Studies, BA (Hons) Sport Coaching and Development, BSPCDF3g1, BSPOSF3g1, BSPCDF3g1, and BSPCDF3g2. The dialog box also has buttons for 'View attendee details' and 'SMS messaging'. The background shows the same timetable grid as the previous screenshot.
